

Management of Polymorphs in the PVSA

Since most of the semen is prostatic fluid, WBCs are evidence of prostatitis, often subclinical and perhaps transient.

- If there are no symptoms, no treatment is usually necessary
- If the patient complains of peri-ejaculatory pain or other prostatic symptoms, it supports empiric antibiotic treatment.